INTRODUCTION

The Congressional Hispanic Caucus Institute (CHCI) is a national, nonprofit educational organization established in 1978. Its mission is to develop the next generation of Latino leaders. Our vision is an educated and civically active Latino community who participates at the local, state, and federal policy decision-making levels. Towards this effort, CHCI has published its first edition of the Directory of National Fellowships, Internships, and Scholarships for Latino Youth. It includes very important and useful information for Latino students and young professionals wishing to finance their higher education and enhance their educational and professional experience with leadership development opportunities.

The purpose of this directory is to make Latino youth aware of the various fellowships, internships and scholarships that exist and encourage them to take advantage of such opportunities. In developing this directory, the editors made a strong attempt to be inclusive of the various educational opportunities that exist; however, this directory should not be viewed the definitive source on fellowships, internships, and scholarships for Latino students. In an effort to keep Latino students aware of new fellowship, internship, and scholarship opportunities, CHCI will update the Directory every year. The directory is divided into three sections: fellowships, internships, and scholarships. For simple use, each section is listed in alphabetical order

CHCI believes it is important for Latino youths to take advantage of the educational opportunities afforded to them. Participating in fellowship and internship programs enable Latino students and young professionals to build and develop their leadership and analytical skills. Such programs expose Latinos to a myriad of academic and professional environments, and prepare them to be future leaders in their communities. Scholarships enable students to enter college, while helping current students finish their degrees. CHCI can not help but underline the importance and valuable experience Latino students gain from such educational opportunities.

*The Directory of National Fellowships, Internships, and Scholarships for Latino Youth was compiled by the Congressional Hispanic Caucus Institute. ## ACADEMY FOR EDUCATIONAL DEVELOPMENT-PUBLIC POLICY AND EDUCATIONAL AFFAIRS FELLOWSHIPS

<http://www.aed.org/ppia/index/html>

The Public Policy and International Affairs (PPIA) Fellowship Program seeks to recruit and empower a new generation of culturally diverse and dedicated public servants. PPIA targets that segment of the U.S. population that will constitute the majority of new workers hired in the new millennium: people of color. By offering the analytical, quantitative, linguistic, and communications skills needed for the 21st Century, PPIA helps its fellows to launch their careers in public service.

AMERICAN INSTITUTE OF CERTIFIED PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS-FELLOWSHIPS FOR MINORITY DOCTORAL STUDENTS

<http://www.aicpa.org/members/div/career/mini/fmds.html>

The primary objective of the minority fellowships program is to make it possible for more minorities to enter or move ahead in the accounting profession. The program provides competitive awards of up to $12,000 per year for accounting scholars who show significant potential to become accounting educators. The fellowships are awarded each April and are renewable for up to an additional five years. Fellowships were awarded to 17 Ph.D. candidates for the 1998-99 academic year. To date, the program has assisted 24 candidates in completing their doctorates.

AMERICAN PROSPECT WRITING FELLOW

<http://epn.org/prospect/jobs.html#fellow>

The American Prospect's Writing Fellows Program will offer young journalists the opportunity to spend a full year at the magazine in Cambridge, Massachusetts, actively developing, practicing, and honing their public policy knowledge and journalistic skills. Each Fellow will write between three and four full-length articles with the expectation that these will be published in the Prospect. The articles are expected to be in-depth reports involving original research and reporting. Fellows will also contribute short pieces to each issue's "Devil in the Details" column and assist with general editorial work.

The goal of the program is to ensure that, once the year of their fellowship is completed, the Fellows have developed the relationships, track record, and credibility to launch themselves as respected young writers. Past TAP Writing Fellows and Assistant Editors have gone on to work and write for The New York Times, The New Republic, The Nation, Slate, Salon, Mother Jones, Newsweek, The Boston Globe, and many other publications.

CONSORTIUM FOR GRADUATE STUDY IN MANAGEMENT-FELLOWSHIPS FOR TALENTED MINORITIES

<http://www.wuolin.wustl.edu:8010/>

The Consortium for Graduate Study in Management is an eleven-university alliance working to facilitate the entry of minorities into managerial positions in business. The universities recruit college-trained African American, Hispanic American, and Native American United States citizens and invite them to compete for merit-based fellowships for graduate study leading to a Master's Degree in Business. The original mission of the Consortium was to ensure that talented minorities develop the business skills necessary to compete for entry-level positions in American businesses. Since its inception, the Consortium has increased the number of annual fellowships awarded from 20 to over 350. These fellowships are funded by various American businesses and the eleven universities affiliated with the Consortium.

TUFTS UNIVERSITY-SYDNEY GRADUTE FELLOWSHIPS IN CHILD DEVELOPMENT

<http://ase.tufts.edu/epcd/sydney.html>

Initial funding for the Fellowship has been provided by the Sydney Foundation in memory of William L. Sydney, a 1963 graduate of Tufts. The Foundation seeks to honor Sydney's work by enlarging educational opportunities through scholarship aid. This award is directed toward those who are concerned with child advocacy and who are interested in the integration of theory, research and practice in health, education or human services.

The Sydney Fellowship program reflects the department's commitment to increasing diversity in the graduate student population, and in the field of applied child development itself. In preparing the students, Eliot-Pearson faculty emphasize a range of diverse experiences which reflect the social, ethnic and cultural richness of our society.

WOODROW WILSON NATIONAL FELLOWSHIP FOUNDATION-WOODROW WILSON VISITING FELLOWS PROGRAM

<http://www.woodrow.org/>

The Woodrow Wilson Visiting Fellows program was established to encourage the flow of ideas between the academic and non-academic sectors of society, and to connect a liberal education with the world beyond the campus. The Foundation matches the interests of the colleges with the experience and availability of the Fellows, helping the colleges to design a week-long program of classroom visits, lectures, panels, seminars, workshops and informal discussions.

Woodrow Wilson Visiting Fellows are representatives of various professions who spend a week or more on the campuses of small liberal arts colleges helping students and teachers relate education to the needs of American society. Through classes, seminars, and informal discussions, executives of major corporations, diplomats, journalists, and others create better understanding between the academic and non-academic worlds.

MEXICAN AMERICAN LEGAL DEFENSE AND EDUCATIONAL FUND (MALDEF)-LAW SCHOOL SCHOLARSHIP

<http://www.maldef.org>

Amount: Varies
Number: Varies

MALDEF is a national nonprofit organization whose mission is to protect and promote the civil rights of the more than 29 million Latinos living in the United States. The recent abandonment of affirmative action in graduate admissions by the University of California and the resulting dramatic decrease in Latinos admitted to law schools illustrates the vital importance of law school scholarship programs like MALDEF's. To help increase the number of Latinos in the legal profession, MALDEF provides scholarships to talented and committed Latino students entering law school. Students must be in their first, second or third year of law school.

MEXICAN AMERICAN LEGAL DEFENSE AND EDUCATIONAL FUND (MALDEF)-UNIVISION COMMUNICATIONS SCHOLARSHIP

Amount: Varies
Number: Varies

With a generous grant from the Univision Television Group, Inc., MALDEF is able to promote the advancement of Latinos in the field of communications. The Latino community has long been severely underrepresented in the field of communications. Consequently, media images of Latinos are often negative and stereotypical, and their contributions to American society remain virtually invisible. For these reasons, Univision, the nation's largest Spanish-language television company, has joined with MALDEF to create a scholarship that will enable Latinos to pursue careers in this important field. Communications scholarships are awarded to students pursuing a graduate or professional degree in the field of communications, including print and broadcast journalism or electronic communications.
